

ZACKERY WILSON ELLIOTT

Zackery Wilson Elliott is a contemporary folk singer-songwriter currently based in Edmonton, AB. Though still in the early stages of his career, his melody and lyric writing have noticeably developed and grown in a short time. His writing draws on inner-curiosity and imaginative storytelling. He independently released his debut EP Caught Half Alive (12000+ streams) in March 2021 and has been performing throughout Ontario, Quebec, and now Western Canada, for three years.

Zackery just released a remastered version of his 2021 EP with a novel bonus track, a live session, a collaborative song Lighthouse (cowritten with Adina V and Julie Title), and has a brand new 3-song EP, Love Another Day on the way.

Zackery consistently performs live as a solo act, playing over 40 shows in 2023 ranging from Toronto, to Montréal and New Jersey. He's become a new face in the festival and conference circuit, performing at Gussapolooza 2022 & 2023, showcasing at the 2022 & 2023 Folk Music Ontario Conference, 2022 & 2023 NERFA Conference. In the spring of 2024 he completed his first tour west of Ontario through Alberta & B.C. with Amanda Penner and Sammy Volkov. Zackery is currently self-producing new music while launching his new folk duo, Halfway Home.
